OFFICIAL DOCUMENTS.

The Commandant General of the Southern Frontier.

Tapalque, Sep. 20th, 1855.

To the Minister of War and Marine, Colonel D. Bartolomé Mitre.

I have the honor of acquainting you of the events that have taken place on the frontier under my command, since the 8th of the current month.

According to the reports I had received, I felt at ease regarding the situation of the frontier, when I learnt by a note from the Justice of Peace of Azul, that the Indians had made an invasion in the direction of Tandil, and a few hours afterwards by another communication from the Justice of Peace of Tandil, announcing the same, with the addition that the force stationed at San Antonio was besieged.

Having received this intelligence, I immediately detached Commandant Otamendi, with eighty men of his squadron, and fifty hussars under the command of Capt. Ramos, to San Antonio.

On the 11th, I was notified by Commandant Otamendi of his arrival at San Antonio, where he had found no force of ours, in consequence of their having retreated, and that the exploring parties he had sent out reported nothing new.

On the evening of the 13th, the Justice of Peace of the Azul informed me, that the Indians had made another invasion, and these news left no doubt in my mind, that it was now a formal invasion ; although I was surprised at not having received a despatch from Commandant Otamendi, on which account I presumed the Indians had entered by the establishment called the Perdido; and leaving a garrison of 200 men and a piece of artillery in the fort, under the command of Colonel José Benavente, I set out at eight in the evening of the 13th, with 700 cavalry, 300 infantry and a piece of artillery, for the purpose of stationing myself outside the Sierra, so as to attack the Indians on their retreat ; but having reached the camps of the Perdido on the morning of the 14th, without discovering any appearance or trace whatever of the Indians, I determined to proceed to San Antonio. But another note which I received from the Justice of Peace of the Azul, informed me that on the 13th, the Indians were at the Rivulet de los Huesos, and that there was serious cause to fear that they intended to return by Tapalque, intercepting the division, which might easily be done ; and having moreover learned that the dead bodies of our companions was the only spectacle that awaited us at San Antonio, without any chance of finding Indians in that direction, I determined to retire inwards, so as to have a better opportunity of acquiring information respecting them, and of pursuing them with the greatest possible activity ; and on arriving at the Barrancosa, I learned that the Indians were in the direction of San Ramon, on which account I marched towards it, skirting the sources of the rivulet, and following its course, till we arrived on the 15th at the above mentioned estancia, without a glimpse of the Indians, though they had evidently passed over the grounds, and despite the rapidity of our march, in which we had travelled 30 leagues in 40 hours. Here I determined to halt to rest the soldiers and horses, a thing absolutely necessary ; and having sent scouts in all directions, they returned to me with the report that nothing was to be seen. The Indians had already retired ; and therefore, I resolved to resume the protection of the frontier of Tapalque, for which I set out on the morning of the 17th.

God preserve Your Honor many years.

EMILIO MITRE.

The same to the same.

Tapalque, Sept. 20th, 1855.

In the despatch that I passed to your honor of the movements made by the division under my command, I acquainted you of the mournful loss of the brave Commandant Otamendi, with his valiant officers and soldiers ; and I will now give some details respecting this deplorable occurrence, which I have received from a soldier of that corps, that was found by my parties on the field of Barrancosa, with five lance wounds.

According to the relation of this soldier, the Indians were felt about midnight of the 12th. and at day-break of the 13th, our gallant forces were surrounded by them on all sides, but without any misgiving, and despite the immense numerical superiority of the enemy, they resolved to defend themselves to the last extremity from within a cattle pen. To attack them in this position the Indians dismounted, and charged them with audacity ; undeterred by the constant fire of our sharpshooters, till they reached the very stakes of the pen, in which they made various gaps by which to enter ; which they were able to effect, principally by the confusion caused among our men, by the uproar of the horses that were shut up in the same pen.

Commandant Otamendi, who defended the gateway, was one of the first who fell, and some Indians having now succeeded in getting into the pen, the confusion caused by the horses becoming greater and greater, Captain Ramos, who assumed the command of the force, ordered a sortie to be made, in which the aforesaid soldier did not follow ; and that he afterwards saw his dead body, the same as those of his other companions.

This narration has also been confirmed by Major Lescano, who arrived at San Antonio a few hours after the combat, and saw that part of our dead was without the pen, and part within it.

From what has been said, it may be inferred, that the exploring parties of Commandant Otamendi, had not on the previous day discovered the Indians, who probably remained concealed in some of the deep vallies that abound in that quarter.

This unfortunate event has enabled the Indians to give a successful blow ; but it has also served to show the heroic valor of our comrades ; a valor that I am confident the division of the South will imitate with the firm persuasion that the day is not far distant, when we shall avenge the blood of the brave Otamendi, Ramos, and other officers and soldiers that have perished in so heroic though unfortunate a combat.

God preserve Your Honor many years.

EMILIO MITRE.

BUENOS AYRES.

Monthly Retrospect.

Disturbing influences have not been wanting during the month of September ; first in the on goings at Montevideo. and latterly by the deplorable occurrences that have taken place on our Southern frontier. Despite of all these, there has been more movement in the wholesale department of manufactured goods. Considerable transactions have been realised for the Interior Provinces, at slightly improved rates, and several dealers are still in the market, apparently disposed to operate. Upon the whole we may announce a decided improvement in the transit trade, compared to the gloom and stagnation of the past months.

The local demand on the contrary, continues languid. Many of the retail stores hold heavy general stocks, and only require a limited number of articles to keep up their assortments. The larger demands have been principally supplied by the public auctions, that have latterly been in vogue, and have always a depressive effect in an overstocked market, as we have had occasion oftener than once to remark. Add to these the want of confidence, arising from the unfortunate situation of our rural districts, and there will be little difficulty in seeing and comprehending the causes of the langour complained of: the real difficulty is to see the remedy, or means of escaping from it.

Fortunately, the importations have been moderate ; but withal, the stocks on hand and in deposit, have not decreased ; and by the announcement of vessels cleared out and loading for the River Plate, we think there is much more danger of a glut than a scarcity. It will require many months to clear off the stocks existing in the market and remittances in the mean time should be confined to articles expressly requested, either from an accidental scarcity, or to make up assortments.

In a recent discussion on the custom house law for the ensuing year, the Minister of Finance stated an interesting fact, namely : that many parties had latterly solicited permission to re-embark for Montevideo, goods that were about to complete the two years conceded by our actual law of limited deposit. If this shows the imperfection of our deposit arrangements, as the Minister strenuously insisted, it proves at the same time a glut in the market, that is in reality as prejudicial to the local dealer as to the foreign importer.

We may remark in passing, that so far as the discussion of the law referred to has proceeded in the Chamber of Representatives, few changes are to be expected for the ensuing year. A reduction in the duties on silks from 12 to 8 per cent. ad valorem, is the only point of importance yet sanctioned ; and it is doubtful whether that may not be reversed or modified in the Senate, despite the zealous advocacy of the Minister of Finance, who is an out-and out free trader.

Articles of Daily Consumption.—Under this head we have nothing new to report. From the United States, the Mediterranean and the Continent, the arrivals continue frequent and heavy ; still no overstock complained of, quick despatch and high prices. Such has uniformly been the character of this department of our general market for the last two years ; such it is ; and such we presume it will continue to be for some time to come.

The most remarkable features are the exorbitant and daily advancing prices of Brazilian and Paraguay produce. We cannot account for this, and half suspect there is some indirect influence, or some questionable combination, that we should be very well pleased to see exposed in behalf of the mass of consumers. The tobacco of Paraguay, for example, has found its way into the European markets, and the considerable quantity now exported, has naturally enough the effect of enhancing the price of what remains for our home consumption, so to speak. We here have an assignable cause, and the corresponding effect. But we are not aware that the yerba either of Paraguay or Brazil has found a similar outlet, and yet the advance in their prices has kept pace with, perhaps exceeded that of the article just mentioned. We should be glad to find a satisfactory solution of this phenomenon.

EXPORT PRODUCE.—Of ox and cow hides our staple article, we have despatched during the month about 80,000; a large portion of which must be from the Interior Provinces. Our Saladeros have been doing very little, and we regret to say their prosperity for the ensuing season are extremely bleak.

There are no stocks of any kind on hand, with the single exception of wool; the greater part of which is contracted for at high prices, as appears from our export table. Some 250 or 300 pipes of tallow have been sold at our quotation, since the arrival of the Mail Packet; and contracts are pending for all the horse hides that may be produced during the month.

In prices generally there has been little variation; the slight upward tendency in a few articles, barely compensating the depreciation of our currency. We fear a considerable number of the vessels in port must be despatched in ballast; thanks to the successful daring of Calfucura & Co., who threaten to make a monopoly of hides and tallow.

SOCIAL AND POLITICAL ASPECT.—With respect to the situation of the frontier, our grand and immediate difficulty, we refer to the official dispatches of Colonel Mitre, given at length in another column. In them we have a mournful confirmation of the disastrous fate of the Otamendi division alluded to in our last; not consisting of 50 or 60 men as we then supposed, but of 130, and we may say the flower of the force on the frontier. These invasions have lost their character of marauding incursions, and assumed that of a regular war of conquest. It is impossible to shut our eyes to this fact; and equally impossible to foresee the consequences of a contest, that is now forced upon us in self-defence.

Besides the murderous extermination of that brave division, the other depredations committed must be enormous, as we may infer from the space they traversed without any serious opposition, except at San Antonio, the scene of the bloody tragedy enacted on the night of the 12th and morning of the 13th. Meanwhile, they have retired unmolested with their booty and captives; and the question naturally occurs, what guarantee have we that similar incursions may not be repeated?

There is a perplexing mystery about the real number of the enemy with whom we have to do The achievment of May last, was a successful retreat on the Azul, leaving the savages in pacific possession of 50,000 head of cattle. Since then operations have been confined to the defensive; and with but indifferent success, as the incidents of the actual invasion clearly imply. Have we an adequate force on the frontier to attack or repel the Indians? It is needless to blink the question. It is one of vital importance, as affecting the staple industry of the State; and any attempt on the part of the Government or the public press, to stifle inquiry, will only whet the appetite for explicit information, and perhaps debilitate means of action, by engendering misgivings as to their success or practicability.

Whatever may be the practical result of the Committee of Inquiry appointed by the Senate, the immediate effect threatens to be a deplorable collision between the Executive and the Legislative powers. With precedents, ancient and modern, at every stage of his parliamentary history, it is impossible for an Englishman to question or doubt the perfect constitutionality of the course adopted by the Upper House; whatever may be his convictions as to the expediency or inexpediency in the given circumstances. We therefore regret the opposition of the Government; and if possible, still more regret to see the public press belie its avowed principles of free inquiry and democracy; specially so soon after having canonized these principles in the case of the ex-Minister of Government, and the late Administration generally.

As a precedent for the appointment of this Special Commission, and a vindiction of its subsequent proceedings, we need go no farther back than the Committee of inquiry into the conduct of the Crimean War.

It originated in the House of Commons, without the concurrence of the House of Lords.

The Duke of Cambridge, Earl Lucan, Sir de Lacy Evans, Admiral Dundas, and many others who had served under Lord Raglan, as also Mr. Layard who had held a situation in the war department, were called upon to give their evidence; without reference to the feeling of their superiors, the sanction of any Minister, or the permission of the Government.

It may be right or wrong expedient or inexpedient; but such is the way of instituting and conducting inquiries in the quarter referred uo. Evidence that requires the previous beneplacito of the Minister, or chief of department, is not worth the trouble of collecting.

EQUINOCTIAL GALES.—We have had a stiff breeze for the last three days. The "Popolano," Sardinian brig, has driven ashore in front of Palermo; and the "Eliza," Oriental brig, has made off for the Tigre. Some collisions in the port, but the details are yet unknown.

The announcement of a new journal the "Uruguay," by Messrs. Marmol and Valencia, forebodes a white squall in our political atmosphere.

THE INDIANS.—No late news from the frontier has been published; whence we conclude that the Government either has had no intelligence, or none of a satisfactory and gratifying character.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

From the new York Daily Times.

Important from the Rio Grande --Progress of the Mexican Revolution.

The New Orleans Delta of the 16th July, publishes the following letter from a correspondent. It gives an interesting account of the present state of affairs in that forlorn country:—

BROWNSVILLE, Texas,
July 10, 1855.

EDITORS DELTA:—The excitement growing out of the revolutionary movements among our Aztec neighbors continues unabated, and we hourly look for news of a decisive character from the scene of operations.

To the joy of many persons who are the avowed friends of the revolution, the cut-throat, General Woll, left his den in Matamoras on the 7th inst., to assume the command of his forces in Reynosa, where they have fortified themselves with the determination of making a stand. After Woll's arrival, the effective force will consist of some thirteen hundred men, rank and file.

The federal forces consist of some twenty-five hundred men, and the necessary artillery. They are commanded by men of much local reputation for their intelligence and valor. Among them are Vidaurri, who captured Monterey; Garna, who, last year, made the gallant defence of Ciudad Victoria; Capistran, who was the second in command at the Mogotes last year, when General Cruz was so shamefully beaten; and last. but not least, Caravajal, with many others of less note, but who are known to be "game to the back bone." Be assured, that the days of misrule and corruption, of that prince of villains, Santa Anna, and his satraps in Northern Mexico, are forever over, and most terrible will be the account they will have to give of their stewardship.

Morally speaking, Santa Anna's Government has been tried and sentenced by the Mexican people, and from the depths of every honest Mexican's conscience, a protest issues against the tissues of cruelties, errors, despotic measures and tyranny, miscalled administration of justice. He will in vain seek solace and comfort in the counsels of his self-conceited and shallow brained premier, the hypocritical train of Bonilla. This self constituted leader of the "Conservadores," or Monarchical party in Mexico, will scarcely have sufficient time to comply with his mission as the tool and agent to the Spanish Court, to give an account to the arrogant, imbecile and profligate Court of Madrid, of what has transpired in their ancient colony.

The Federal Court of this District adjourned yesterday, without doing anything of consequence, besides acquitting Carvajal, Norton, Hindtree, and some twenty-six others of the so-called fillibusters, in some of which cases, Mr. S. District, entered a nolle prosequi, and others were discharged on account of the illegality of the indictment, which was quashed. Thus ended a prosecution which cost Brother Jonathan some of his loose change, properly distributed among many of his law-abiding children, who are more in need of it than the old man was.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas,
July 11, 1855.

EDITORS DELTA:—After I had mailed my letter last evening, an express from the Federal Camp arrived late last night, and brought among other things, the following proclamation or decree, a translation of which I hereby send you:—

(Translation.)

Provisional, Political and Military Government of the Free, Sovereign State of Nuevo Leon.

Santiago Vidaurri, General-in Chief of the Liberating Army of Mexico, in the States of the North, to all the towns and forces recognising his authority:—

ARTICLE I.—All persons composing the so-called government of Don Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, and on whose account the civil war that destroys the country is maintained, are public enemies and conspirators against the sovereignty and integrity of the National Territory.

General Castro, with some five hundred men, commands in Matamoros, which place will, of course, surrender if, as it is universally supposed, the hangman Woll is defeated at Reynosa, which is more than probable. This man Castro is a brute, whose ignorance is only equalled by his proverbial cowardice.

The revolutionary forces, after entering Camargo, took up their line of march for Reynosa, and their advance guard, it is said, was already within some six leagues of that place before yesterday. If it be so, they may intercept Woll with an over-powering force; in which case, they wou'd make him dress himself in the uniform of the "distinguished National Order of Gaudalupe," and hang the rascal to the highest tree they can find.

ART II.—The chiefs and officers that in the conflict of arms may be taken by the forces under my command, shall be tried militarily by a Common Council of War; and punished with the penalty of death as traitors to the country and as instruments of tyranny. The same penalty shall be applied to the tyrant Santa Anna and to his accomplices, the Secretaries of States, the Governor, the Military Commanding General, and to all who have committed murders on the citizens of the nation for political offences.

ART. III.—Every person who directly or indirectly protects the enemy by supplying him of his own free will with resources and information, or by favoring him in any other way, incurs in the last penalty, or in the extraordinary one of hard labor, public works or fine, at the discretion of the Council, and according to the gravity of the crime commited and proved on trial.

ART. IV.—It is a popular act to arrest, and accuse the individuals spoken of in the foregoing article, delivering them to the military authority of the town wherein the arrest may be made.

ART. V.—The present decree being only a law of retaliation provoked by acts of tyranny, a law repugnant to the present state of civilization and to liberal principles, the same shall cease to be observed as soon as the enemy shall subject himself to the natural rights of war.

ART. VI.—Copies of this decree shall be sent to the chiefs of the liberating forces, operating in the centre and south of the Republic, inviting them to observe the same, and cause it to observed, should they deem it just and advantageous to the cause of liberty.

Therefore, I command it to be printed, published and circulated, and that the same be duly complied with.

THE INFALLIBLE REMEDY!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF SORE LEGS.

Copy of a letter from Mr. Michael Hyatt, of Meerut, dated the 29th August, 1854.

To Professor Holloway,

SIR,—A man in my employ, named John Jones, was for sixteen years afflicted with the most inveterate ulcerous legs, which formed into large wounds, and were continually throwing out offensive matter rendering him an object of horror to himself, and those around him. I must admit he was in a most shocking state, and it was only out of pity for the poor fellow that I retained him in my service. During the whole of this time, I consulted first one party and then another, in the hope of its being benefitted, but it was without effect; and in fact it seemed to be only wasting money to obtain further advice, as the last party I consulted stated he could never be cured. However, five month ago, I put him under a course of your Ointment and Pills, and after continuing them regularly, for eleven weeks, his legs were completely sound, and he now enjoys the best of health in every respect. Common politeness has induced me to make you acquainted with these particulars, which you may make use of, if you feel disposed.

I am, Sir, your obedient Servant.

(Signed) MICHAEL HYATT.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN.—REMARKABLE CURE OF TWO CHILDREN.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Henry Anderson, of Lucknow, E. I., dated the 30th of April, 1854.

To Professor Holloway,

SIR,—I have taken leave to address you, to thank you for the benefit my two children have derived from using your Ointment and Pills. For two years, each of them suffered most alarmingly from eruptions all over the body and limbs, it was quite a pain to wash them; and despite of all the advice I had from several surgeons they did not derive the slightest benefit, it was with some reluctance, that I was induced to give a trial to your Ointment and Pills, as I firmly believed nothing would eradicate the unsightly disfigurement, having spent upwards of £40 in medicine and advice for them. However, I put them under a course of your Medicines, and the effect was wonderful, for by persevering with them; the eruptions gradually disappeared. Both of the children are now without a blemish, and enjoy the most robust health.

I remain, Sir, yours respectfully.

(Signed) HENRY ANDERSON.

ASTONISHING CURE OF ERYSIPELAS.

Copy of a Letter from Henry Brooks, Esq., of Simla dated the 22d of March, 1854.

To Professor Holloway,

SIR,—Having been almost a martyr from the effects of Erysipelas, and tried every remedy likely to benefit me without success; I determined to make use of your invaluable Ointment and Pills, although when I commenced with them, I certainly was in a most deplorable state, the whole of my body being covered with large purple blotches, quite unsightly in addition to the unpleasant feeling of itching and and burning, which affected me both night and day, rendering my life a misery to me, as well as all around' so severe was the attack. After taking your Pills and using pour Ointment for a few weeks, a visible improvement took place, and I felt considerably better, at the lapse of three months, every symptom of my disorder disappeared, and I now enjoy the best of health; thanks to you and your medicines.

I remain, Sir, your most obedient Servant,

(Signed) HENRY BROOKS

WONDERFUL CURE OF A BAD BREAST.

Copy of a letter from Mr. Archibald Henderson, dated Cuttack,, February 17th, 1854.

To Professor Holloway,

SIR,—I have to acknowledge an inestimable benefit my wife has derived from the use of your Ointment and Pills. Ten months ago, just after the weaning of our last child, her left breast broke out into ulcerous sores, rendering the same one frightful running wound: and as a matter of course, she laboured under nervous debility, loss of appetite, and general ill-health. I had recourse to a variety of medicines for the cure of this horrible disorder, but every thing she took had a neutral effect on her; at last, I resolved upon procuring a quantity of your Ointment and Pills, which very quickly produced a change for the better, and by persevering with them for three months, she was perfectly cured.

I am, Sir, yours most respectfully,

(Signed) ARCH. HENDESRON.

COMMERCIAL AGENCY OF THE ARGENTINE CONFEDERATION.

Buenos Ayres, July 23, 1855.

The undersigned, Commercial Agent of the Argentine Confederation in this City, begs to state, for the information of the mercantile community, that the Government of the Confederation has decreed as follows.

1 All vessels, troops of carts, or trains of mules, which may be despatched, loaded for the Confederated Provinces must take an exact manifest of the goods of their lading certified by this Agency. Said manifest, the form of which in blank will be furnished by the Agency; in which must be expressed all the packages, with their marks and numbers, class of merchandize, and weight or measure of same; and which must be filled up and signed by the party despatching as well as by the Captain or Patron of the vessel [by the owner or Capataz of the troops of carts or train of mules as may be] will be compared by the Commercial Agent with the general manifest which may have been given by this Custom House, and which the party despatching will present to him for that purpose.

2 Should the lading of a vessel be destined for various ports, a separate manifest of the same kind will be required for each.

3 All vessels, troops of carts, or trains of mules, which may be despatched for the Confederated Provinces in ballast or empty, must take a certificate of the same from this Agency.
